Meet Antonio

Antonio went from a happy childhood to a rocky period in his life when he fathered a child with a girlfriend and then dropped out of school to support them. He then got involved with the wrong crowd that led him to using drugs and becoming homeless. Once he discovered The Source, he began training as a student in the Dignity Foods program, cooking on the Dignity Food Truck and obtaining skills necessary for finding a job. He has now reunited with his Alabama family and has obtained a job as a manager at a local food chain.

Meet Krystal

With her mother on drugs and her dad deceased, Krystal grew up in foster care and after high school, Krystal gave birth to a daughter, now seven. She never stopped dreaming of becoming educated and bettering herself, thus moved to Orlando to attend college and obtain a job to support them both. When COVID forced her to lose it all and she became homeless, she found The Source. Following her tenure in the Dining with Dignity program and working on the food truck, The Source guided her to a qualified job that has enabled her to work full time, find a home and enjoy her new car gifted from a Source benefactor!

Meet Jason

In the case of Dining with Dignity student Jason Spiegel, the third time, is the charm. Jason joined the Dining with Dignity Culinary Training program two times before and was not able to see it through. He overcame his struggles with addiction and graduated with his state required ServSafe Food Handler Certificate, and now has a job as a cook at a local Vero Beach restaurant, and has since been housed. Jason stays busy as one of the top cooks at his place of employment.

Meet Olguy

Olguy hails from Haiti and speaks limited English. Like many other homeless, unfortunate circumstances and the inability to live with family, drove Olguy to the streets until he discovered The Source. He enrolled in the Dining with Dignity program and worked on the Food Truck obtaining the skills to cook, bake and operate a kitchen. As a recent graduate of the program, The Source was able to assist him in finding a job at a local restaurant right here in Vero Beach.

Planned Giving

You Believe That Everyone Deserves the Basic Right of Food, Shelter and Clothing. What Should You Do?

After making provisions for loved ones and friends, one or more charitable interests are often included in a will or living trust. The plans you make today help define your legacy and ensure that your wishes are carried out. Through a proper will, you can have a significant impact on the causes you care about. You can play an instrumental role in helping the less fortunate and homeless through your personal designation.

Advantages to Including a Charity in Your Will

- Donations by will/bequest are 100% deductible for estate tax purposes.
- It's simple and may only require drafting simple amendment to your current.
- Many folks are able to make larger gifts through their will than are possible using current income.

What if I Don't Have a Will?

The State will create one for you! This can have significant tax and cost implications. Additionally, the States rules and regulations are inflexible causing unnecessary "red tape" for your loved ones.

Can I Designate Only a Portion of My Estate?

Yes, and it does not affect your lifetime assets or cash flow. You may choose to give:

- A specific percentage
- A specific dollar amount
- A specific piece of real property
- A vehicle

What if I Change My Mind And Want to Increase or Decrease my Contribution Amount?

You are in control of your estate and you have the option of making amendments at any time. If your family situation or personal needs change, you can modify your designation. You can amend a will or trust without rewriting the entire document. Your attorney can prepare a simple document called a codicil, adding new language while reaffirming the other terms of your will. Similarly an attorney can prepare an amendment to a revocable living trust to add I Am Ministries dba The Source as beneficiary, if you so desire.

In Conclusion

Making plans and updating them as needed can bring great satisfaction and peace of mind. You should check with your professional advisors for help in making sure your plans still meet your needs.

We will be pleased to be of assistance as you and your advisors consider the charitable dimension of your long-range financial plans. Your inquiry will be treated in complete confidence, and there is never any obligation.
